MRS. HOLLIS GUILTY; BUT PAROLED

Chance to Make Good on Worthless Checks; "Victim of Brother's Misdeeds"

Mrs. W. Thatcher Hollis, former Newton society matron and buyer of "slaves" from Boston Common "slave mart," was found guilty today in Municipal Court of larceny through means of worthless checks.

Judge Lourie placed her on probation for one year with the understanding that she would make full restitution within ten days.

He declared he believed her to be the "victim of her brother's misdeeds."

Previously, her counsel, Major Robert L. Crowley, pleaded for her, saying that she had written the checks in good faith as she had given her brother $800 in checks to deposit for her.

When Mrs. Hollis was arrested by

BULGARIA'S WOMAN DIPLOMAT RESIGNS

London, June 22 (AP).—In consequences of the Bulgarian revolution and the death of her old chief, former Premier Stamboulisky, Miss Nadeja Stanciof today resigned her position as first secretary of the Bulgarian Legation in Washington, whither she was soon to proceed. Miss Stanciof enjoyed the unique position of being Europe's only woman diplomat. She probably will engage in journalism in the United States or Great Britain.

IGNORING BULLETS, DRIVER SPEEDS AWAY

Clyde Symonds, taxi driver of Reading, was returning to Reading today from North Reading when two men leaped in front of his machine twenty feet ahead. Flashing guns, they yelled at Symonds to stop. He stepped on the gas and the taxi almost ran down the two men. As Symonds went whizzing by both of them cut loose with the guns and bullets whizzed by.

PHONE GIRLS TALK STRIKE AT SECRET SESSION HERE

The wage committee of the telephone operators union went into secret session today, to decide on a strike date.

Julia O'Connor said every indication pointed to a strike, and her influence would be thrown into the scales toward that end.

Officers of the union had agreed, she added, to give the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company forty-eight hours' notice in the event a strike date was set.

The committee which is to make the decision is the one which counted the strike vote yesterday. It consists of ten members, Miss O'Connor making eleven.

She delivered a bitter attack on

UNION REJECTS L OFFER; ACTION IS UNANIMOUS

A meeting of the Car Men's Union at Tremont Temple today unanimously rejected the offer of the Boston Elevated for a 4-cent per hour increase in pay. The men are getting 61 cents an hour; they are offered 65 cents and want 75 cents. There were 700 in attendance at the meeting.

There is no immediate prospect of a strike, as the matter is to go to arbitration.

EXCHANGE EXPELS STAMM; CLEAN UP UNDER WAY

New York, June 22.—The Consolidated Stock Exchange today expelled P. G. Stamm of P. G. Stamm & Co., from membership.

This was considered the first step in the cleaning up of the exchange following announcement by William S. Silkworth that he would resign as president next Thursday.

It was said that Lawrence Tweedy, selected as his successor, contemplated a sweeping reorganization.

WOMAN DIES IN OFFICE ELEVATOR

New Boy Accused of Grabbing Controller From Regular Operator in Carney Building

An unidentified woman between fifty-five and sixty years of age was crushed to death in an elevator of the Carney Building, No. 43 Tremont street today.

The victim is believed to be Mrs. Julia Murphy of No. 135 Ninth street, South Boston, who left her home to go to the Carney building.

The car started as she was entering and her body was mangled between the floor of the elevator and the top of the first floor gate.

The police questioned Abraham Marcolis of No. 248 Chambers street, West End, the operator, and Walter Foley, fifteen, of No. 24 Stone place, Lynn, who was learning how to operate.

Foley charged Marcolis started the elevator just as the woman stepped across the threshold.

Marcolis declares Foley wrenched the controller from his hand, causing the car to shoot upward.

Foley had just been hired at $17 a week to operate during the vacation period.

Federal Agents Ordered to fiscate Booze on Baltic and Berengaria

Washington, June 22 (I.N.S.).—Customs officials in New York were ordered by the Treasury Department to break the seals and seize all beverage liquor on the steamship Baltic, which arrived in that port today.

New York, June 22 (A.P.).—While Treasury Department Officials today were concentrating attention on the Cunard Liner Berengaria, the Baltic slipped into quarantine with 6,182 bottles of liquor under British Government seal in defiance of American dry regulations.

There are approximately 6000 operators in the Metropolitan Boston district. Over 90 per cent of them refrained from participation in this referendum.

If a strike is called, therefore, it will be with the expressed sanction of less than 10 per cent of the operating force in this area.

customs authorities intended to seize the Baltic's liquor, they did not plan to act until after Captain Roberts had applied to the United States Public Health Service for a permit to enter with liquor for medicinal purposes.

After this permit has been issued, the customs agents were under orders to seize all liquors in excess of medical requirements, whether it be out of seal.

This program also must be followed with the incoming Berengaria and other ships carrying liquor under seal for the return trip.

United States Attorney Hayward said he was ready to carry out any orders with reference to the ships carrying liquor under seal.

WILL ENFORCE LAW.

"Having tried and won the Anchor Line case and the Cunard case, the original 'ship rum' cases, both of which were afterwards affirmed by the United States Supreme Court, we feel that no new point of law is involved in the present situation by the use of so-called 'seals.' ... ready resorted to for an artificial purpose in an effort to evade our laws," Mr. Hayward said.

"These seals cannot be so sacred, as it is the clear intention to have the ship bartenders break them at the three-mile limit on the last inbound voyage.

"As we view it, the same old question is presented, and that question is not, who will run our harbor. My personal belief is that the United States can, should and will continue to do the latter."

The Berengaria docked just off the Baltic. Her manifest showed she had under seal, in addition to her medicinal liquor supply, 110 1/4 gallons of spirits, 161 1/16 gallons of wine and 2,888 bottles of ale and porter.

The Baltic's eastbound liquor supply comprised: 5,726 bottles of beer and ale; 305 bottles of spirits; 119 bottles of wine; 33 bottles of liqueurs.

LIQUOR UNDER SEALS.

It was placed in a separate compartment in the hold and bore four British customs seals, which were inspected daily by the ship's officers.

The Baltic sailed from Liverpool on June 9, a day before the latest American dry ruling became effective. She hit a submerged wreck and returned for slight repairs. As she put out again for the United States after June 10, it is believed the new ruling applies also to her.

Officers on the ship confirmed reports that all foreign liners on their way now to the United States were carrying supplies for the homeward voyage.

5 GERMAN BURGOMASTERS IMPRISONED BY BELGIANS

Brussels, June 22 (AP).—A Belgian court-martial at Aix-La-Chapelle has imprisoned five German burgomasters from one to two months and fined them for refusing to execute orders by the military authorities of occupation.

The Landrath of Heinsberg was sentenced to six months and fined 1,000 marks; Berlin, June 22 (AP).—A French court-martial at Werden has sentenced five former German security policemen to from six months to five years in prison for shooting at French gendarmes in Essen.

British Eager to See Dry Ship Law Settled

London, June 22 (AP).—It is declared in well-informed quarters here that the British government in no way challenges the authority of American officials to break British consular seals and confiscate the liquor aboard ships, it being recognized that the jurisdiction of the British government, in the case of liquor or any other goods sealed at a British port, ceases once the three-mile limit is passed.

The Daily Express today makes a plea for a speedy settlement of the ship liquor problem.

"If the affair is allowed to continue along present lines," says the newspaper, "we may be easily drifted into a vendetta of counter-irritants in which such big words as 'national honor' would be flung about. That would be deplorable and absurd. Common sense could find almost a hundred ways out of the difficulty. ... 's time to take one of them."

HEAT WAVE GONE LEAVING DEATH TOLL OF 13

The dead:

Charles Sapparis, 52 years old, No. 140 Chapel street. Collapsed on Hudson street and died at the Haymarket Relief Station.

Daniel Hannifin of Holyoke died after being overcome by the heat.

East Cambridge Superior Court adjourned a session several hours before the usual time. Mayor Curley granted a holiday to as many of the city employes as could be spared. Schools, factories, stores and offices were closed in many cities in the State.

KILLER AS HE LOOKED POSING AS A GIRL

TWO VIEWS OF ACCUSED SLAYER

The dual personality of Fred G. Thompson of Chicago was revealed when he was held for murder of a wealthy man. Thompson posed as a "cabaret girl" and married woman. He lived as the "wife" of another man for thirteen years, yet had a wife of his own. He still wears the feminine togs he wore when arrested. Inset is close-up photo, showing beard on his face.

POLICE RENEW GRILLING OF THOMPSON

Chicago, June 22.—Police await the moment when Fred G. Thompson, alias Mrs. Francis Garrick, will "break" under their ceaseless examination for solution of the mystery surrounding the murder of Richard G. Tesmer, wealthy insurance man.

They are firm in their belief that Thompson, who, masquerading as a woman, has been "married" for several years to Frank T. Garrick, an automobile mechanic, while at the same time legally wed to Marie Kosakowska, alias Marie Clark, was the 'Smiling Girl," who shot Tesmer in the presence of his wife, after a robbery which netted less than $25.

He still wears the feminine habiliments in which he was dressed when arrested.

Police do not credit a "confession" of Carrick's in which he named Thompson as the "Girl Killer."

They say Carrick is a drug addict.

JEKYLL HYDE MYSTERY.

The case is the strangest one in Chicago's colorful history of crime. It is Mr. Jekyll and Mrs. Hyde affair.

When Tesmer was murdered following a holdup near his home June 6, most of the police working on the case stated positively:

"The job was done by a man. No woman could have committed such a brutal crime."

But the widow, Mrs. Tesmer, cried hysterically:

"It was a woman. I saw her. It was a beautiful, refined woman."

It turns out that they were both right.

The suspect, Thompson, is a dual personality. When arrested he was living as Mrs. Frank Garrick. For years he has masqueraded as a woman.

LOOK FOR CONFESSION.

Chicago has always been notoriously lenient with woman criminals. Following the Tesmer murder, there was a hue and cry for the capture of the "woman" described by Mrs. Tesmer.

"If she is captured," the authorities said, "there will be no mercy. The woman will be tried quickly, convicted rapidly and very swiftly hung. No more false sentiment."

The girl-man, following his arrest, began to create alibis. One by one they have been shattered. In the investigation there has been disclosed a life and identity that has never been paralleled before.

The first shock came when Thompson, whose whiskers showed through the rouge on his face since his incarceration, confessed he had been living as the wife of one Frank Carrick, but that he was legally married to Marie Clark.

The crime was undoubtedly inspired by the use of dope.

Now Thompson shows the effects of his craving for the drug that has been withheld from him since his arrest. Police believe he will break down under the stress of this crying demand for dope, and tell about the murder.

YALE GIVING ODDS ON BIG CLASSIC

trains from Boston, New York and New Haven arrived, grew larger, but with the two early races out of the way they had nothing to do until 7 o'clock the time fixed for the start of the varsity race, the big rowing event of the year.

YALE FRESHMEN WIN.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the two freshmen crews made ready for their race. When the pistol cracked Harvard started in the lead, but was quickly passed by the Blue crew, which was never in danger after gaining the lead.

Official time—Yale, 10:27; Harvard, 10:46.

Yale made a pretty race of it. After taking the lead from Harvard just after the start she pulled out ahead of the Crimson crew and rowing an easy stroke of 32 increased her lead to three lengths at the mile and one-half mark. Though Harvard sprinted in the last quarter of a mile, Yale forged ahead and sweeped over the finish an easy winner by four lengths.

E. P. Weymer, rowing number 2 in the Harvard shell collapsed at the finish.

Half an hour later the junior varsity eights had their race. The start was made at 11:47. Harvard took a slight lead but Yale rapidly passed her and rowed away from her rival. Soon the Elis had a lead of three lengths. The New Haven men rowed a 30 stroke while Harvard kicked up a fuss with her sweeps and felt steadily behind.

In the last quarter of a mile, Yale began to pull away and had the race handily won. Harvard was over five lengths behind when Yale flashed over the finish line.

Although Yale ruled a strong favorite, the Harvard men were nevertheless hopeful of nosing out at the finish of the eight-oared contest, which is scheduled to start at seven o'clock tonight.

Crimson adherents based their hopes that Yale victories have been over two-mile courses, while today's contest is over the full four-mile course.

Despite the prevailing belief that Yale will win, mons of the large wagers of past years have been recorded and all the betting has been done by private parties.

YALE OFFERS ODDS.

Yale men were offering odds of very nearly two to one last night, but today a number of bets were made at 10 to 7, with the Blue the favorite.

By yacht, steam launch, automobile and train the crowds of Harvard and Yale followers swept into town, filling hotels and lodging houses to overflowing and putting rooms at a premium.

Weather conditions were ideal, the intense heat of yesterday having given place to a mild temperature, with just enough sun to keep the oarsmen perspiring freely.

CONDITIONS IDEAL.

For the thousands who will watch the big race from boats and combination trains conditions could not be improved on.

The two crews took their last practice spins last night and spent today in seclusion, waiting for the big struggle.

HARDING ON WAY TO FAR WEST

Kansas City, Mo., June 22 (A.P.)—President Harding and his party, on arrival here from St. Louis, will find a city gaily decorated and thousands of visitors anxious to see and hear him tonight, expecting his speech will deal with the transportation problems of peculiar interest to a region of such central location.

The program arranged for the presidential party includes a parade on the boulevards, a public reception, a game of golf at Blue Hills Country Club, review of a detachment of Boy Scouts and presentation by the President of letters of commendation to Russell Dennis and Damon Bassoy Scouts, for bravery in life saving, and a visit to the veteran's hospital.

MRS. HOLLIS ON PROBATION

Inspectors Dorsey and Augusta on complaint of downtown stores, she told of having given deposits to "a man" and she refused to make known his name. Today Judge Lourie demanded his identity.

"Please do not ask me this," Mrs. Hollis said. "I have suffered beyond words. I have been insulted on every corner. No matter what the court does to bring about justice I do not feel justified my self in causing any one else suffering.

"Any one would think I was the worst criminal in the world, the way I have been insulted and hounded and the way former friends have talked about me.

At the Judge's request she said, in a voice scarcely audible, that she had given the checks to "one of my brothers."

SOON YOU will know what can be done in getting money from a country by those that have conquered and disarmed it.

The French will take the private property of Germans, mines, factories, etc., and work them. Those that interfere will stand before a firing squad "for sabotage."

Those that refuse to work in confiscated plants will go to jail.

The French, thorough, logical, go through with what they start. But they may be disappointed.

A RELIGIOUS organization in South America undertook to treat a tribe of Indians as France now tries to treat the Germans of the Ruhr. The Indians were kindly treated, but thoroughly exploited. They went to bed and got up by the ringing of a bell, worked hard all day long and their souls were saved by conversion to Christianity, an additional profit.

Everything seemed to be going well, when suddenly the Indians stopped having children, and there were no more workers after that generation. Exploiting human beings on a big scale is always difficult.

MARCUS GARVEY, who started "an all black" steamship line, promising his negro followers a republic in Africa, goes to prison for five years.

His followers kneel praying, as he is led away, a pitiful scene of confidence misplaced, if the judge and jury reached a righteous decision.

Everybody will read about the illiterate black organizer of the African republic, his collegiate gown, gold headed cane, gold eyeglasses, top hat, etc.

SIMEON STRUNSKY, in his able editorial page, reminds you that the country should also hear about another negro, Dr. Carver, winner of the Spingarn medal.

Dr. Carver's work in agricultural chemistry, as Mr. Strunsky says, would honor any white scientist. What is more important, it will greatly increase the value of farm lands and crops throughout the South.

PASSING FROM grave to gay, Mr. Strunsky creates this pleasant motto:

"In reply to reiterated inquiries as to his plans, Mr. Ford says: 'Yes, I have no Presidential ambitions.'"

MT. ETNA'S violence is subsiding. The worst is over, perhaps for centuries. Villages and vineyards are locking up forever in the solid stone of cooling lava. And you see an interesting contrast between ancient and modern methods.

The inhabitants of two towns engage in a desperate fight to secure a miraculous "staff," supposed to have power to stop the lava flow.

While the fight was going on, engineers with trenches and barricades actually were diverting a lava stream from a village of many inhabitants toward land uninhabited.

Modern miracles also work.

BRICKLAYERS HAVE won their strike and $2 more pay. They set 1,000 bricks per day.

Conservatism is horrified at this, but nobody seems excited because the brick manufacturer gets $3 more for 1,000 bricks than he did a year ago. The manufacturer demands an increase in profit 400 per cent, as great as that demanded by the bricklayer. But the brickmaker is a capitalist—so that's all right.

BARON ROTHSCHILD in Paris discovers that he paid 150,000 francs for a "fake" antique. He was just as happy before he knew of the fraud. Now he is unhappy; also slightly ridiculous.

Let that teach us to think long before we reveal too much truth to those that do not want it. If the Mohammedans like to believe in a heaven, with private ownership of many young ladies, made of solid musk; if Buddhists wish to believe that Gautama, tired of his young wife and her many assistants, gave his body to feed to a starving tigress that had no milk, for her cubs—be careful how you convince them of their folly.

Their "antique delusion" may be more valuable to them than your modern truth.

CONFESSES "POISON" LETTERS

Malden Woman Inspired Messages to Husband; Suit Thrown Out

Suit for separate support, brought in East Cambridge Probate Court by Mrs. Mary Armstrong, of No. 31 Sea View avenue, Malden, against Joseph A. Armstrong, Boston business man, was thrown out of court today when Mrs. Armstrong admitted she had caused "poison pen" letters to be sent to her husband's business associates and friends.

Ten letters, making serious charges against Armstrong, were sent a few months ago to his manager, stenographers and several of his friends.

When questioned regarding the letters Mrs. Armstrong denied having written them but admitted that she knew they had been sent. Later she told Judge McCoole that a Mrs. Carpenter, who lives at Fairfield avenue, Malden, had written them at her instigation.

On this admission Judge McCoole dismissed her application.

The Armstrongs were married in November, 1901, and have one son Joseph, aged eight years. Armstrong is president of the American Moistening Company of Boston. The couple separated in January.

TURN HOUSE INTO BIG DISTILLERY

100 Gallons of Moonshine Are Found in Lynn Raid; No Arrests Are Made

Nearly 100 gallons of moonshine was secured by Sergeant Edward Egan and a squad of Lynn police in two raids.

At No. 36 Pendexter street they found the two-story unpainted house completely piped from basement to attic for distilling purposes. Two steel radiator stills, each five gallons of alcohol, 1,250 gallons of mash and enough miscellaneous pipes and supplies to keep the still busy many hours, were seized.

At No. 91 Harbor street, thirty gallons of alcohol, thirty barrels of mash and a still were seized in the cellar of the two and one-half story house.

Arrests have been made yet.

Harding's Amnesty May Be Rejected

Washington, June 22.—It is by no means certain the political prisoners released by President Harding will care to accept the conditional clemency extended them, because of the danger that they will be left subject the remainder of their lives to the whims of officials and office-seekers, according to Pierce C. Wetter, New York, of the General Defence Committee, himself an ex-prisoner.

Wetter came here to be present at the White House conference on the conditions attending the prisoners' release.

The joint amnesty resolution, passed in defiance of the veto of the President, drew today by attacking the President's failure to name the twenty-three prisoners remaining in Leavenworth penitentiary, who refused to accept the bulk of those held on the principle of free speech is involved.

The protest filed at the White House cites two objection to the conditions imposed. One holds that "to grant a commutation on condition they remain law abiding and in fear of returning them to prison serve the rest of their sentence under the Espionage Act is to make them for the rest of their lives the prey of the petty whims of government officials.

The second objection is that "this form of commutation tends to leave the impression that these men are lawbreakers, which they steadfastly denied."

GIRL PUT TO DEATH BY SOVIET

London, June 22.—Mlle. Brusiloff, daughter of Gen. Brusiloff, commander of the Russian Red Army, has been executed at Moscow for concealing church treasures, according to a Moscow despatch to the Evening News today.

In consideration of her father's military services also was offered a pardon, but refused it, saying:

"I cannot accept mercy at the bloody hands of the executioners of the Russian people."

Gen. Brusiloff was one of the foremost generals of the Czarist regime, but cast his lot with the Soviets when they came into power.

ATHOL MAN SLASHES THROAT WITH RAZOR

Athol, June 22.—Felix Chamberlain, 68, of No. 200 Chestnut st., made an ineffectual attempt to end his life at his home, when he slashed his throat with a razor. He had been in poor health for several weeks.

LOST HUSBAND OVER NUDE STATUE

BY FRANCIS J. TIETSORT

New York, June 22.—"I posed to my sculptures instructor, Stirling Calder, whom I regarded as my friend, for a study of myhead. This was later imposed without my consent or knowledge upon a composite statue, of darling treatment, for the body of which another girl posed.

"On the outcome of several lawsuits over the nude statue, for which I did not pose, and concerning which I knew absolutely nothing, depends my happiness as the bride of a husband whom I love dearly.

"It means positively my happiness. Charlie is a dear. I must win the suits to convince my husband, who, I am sure, loves me, that I told him the truth. The courts will help me, my lawyers say."

Mrs. Theresa Levey Lind, twenty and beautiful, made this statement as she discussed the damage actions she is bringing against A. Sterling Calder, sculptor and instructor of the Art Students' League, for $200,000, and against Vogue, for pictured publication, and the American Sculpture Society for exhibiting the statue.

The husband she hopes to win back is Charles U. Lind, twenty-four, salesman for a large stationery house, Mark P. Foster, Inc., No. 40 Cedar street, owned by his step father.

Theresa Lind, sitting on a divan in the apartment of her father, Abraham Levey, No. 241 West Ninety-seventh street, made a winning picture of beauty in distress.

She has a wealth of bobbed, light brown hair, luminous and soulful brown eyes, and long black eyelashes.

It was really too simple to perceive why a sculptor had chosen her exquisitely modelled head for a study. But, according to Theresa's story, he violated art ethics by attaching a sculptured study of her head to the daring pose of a nude dryad, which, when published by Vogue last February, caused her husband, who now lives with his mother at Montclair, N. J., to tear his hair, and as she expressed it, "break up housekeeping."

"I was living with Charlie's people in February when this picture of the statue was published," she explained. "My husband saw it, and we had a scene over it that nearly broke my heart."

MOUNT ETNA'S ERUPTION IS DECREASING

Catania, Italy, June 22. (A.P.)—For the first time since Mount Etna became violent, a ray of hope dawned today for the inhabitants of the volcanic region.

The danger is not yet ended, for the crater of the mountain is still belching molten streams of lava and great rocks which threaten the complete destruction of nearby communities, but undoubtedly the violence of the eruption is decreasing.

A relatively small number of fresh craters—about twenty in number—opened during the night, indicating that the pressure within the mountain is less.

Volcanologists say it is impossible to prophecy how long Etna will continue active, but they expect a return to more normal conditions within a short time; meanwhile, although the loss in property has been enormous, the present eruption of Sicily's great mountain of terror has claimed no human victims.

WHISTLING CLINIC TO OPEN ON JLUY 2

The so-called whistling clinic, established last Summer for the cure of speech defects, will open July 2 at the Wentworth Institute, Huntington avenue and Ruggles street. The clinic will be free, sessions taking place daily from ten to twelve except Saturday.

Whistling as a help to cure speech defects is a new discovery made last Summer by Dr. Walter B. Swift of Boston, who will be in charge of the clinic. Patients will be taken in order of application. Names and addresses should be sent to the School for Speech Education, Bay State road, Boston.

SILK STRIKERS SPURN COMPROMISE RAISE

Northampton, June 22.—An offer from the Cortlevill Silk Company of a 10 per cent. wage increase in some departments was unanimously rejected by strikers in the Leeds and Haydenville Mills of the concern, about 400 in number. The workers have been out since June 4 to enforce demands for a general increase of 15 per cent. for all workers earning less than $18 a week and 10 per cent. for all those earning $18 or more a week.

BOSTON MAN WINS P. O. DEPT. PRIZE

John H. Galway, special clerk and draughtsman at the central post office, the city, and Herman Keonig, a postal employe in New York, have split a $200 prize offered by the Postoffice Department in Washington for the best design for the new "rest bars" for postal clerks.

The bars are intended to increase the comfort of postal clerks, who have found it a hardship to stand on their feet for protracted periods when engaged in sorting mail.

HE HAD HIS PICK OF WOMEN FOR DIVORCE AID

New York, June 22.—That the business of providing correspondents in divorce sessions has reached the point where a husband may have his pick of professional correspondents was suggested before Judge Talley in General Sessions.

"Take your look, make it snappy," Jerome A. Jacobs, lawyer, charged with conspiring to get a divorce for Eva Baltuck, was reported to have said to Samuel Baltuck, her husband.

Baltuck testified that Jacobs, in his office, had introduced him to two women, professional correspondents, one a blonde, the other a brunette, and had told him to say which he preferred to be with when "discovered" in a room in the Hotel De France. Mrs. Baltuck and others [illegible] him with the goods," as it [illegible] at the time.

[illegible]ls, Baltuck swore, was ar[illegible] by the lawyer and detective. [illegible] Jacobs had informed him that Mrs. Baltuck wanted a divorce and that counsel fees and alimony might be saved if Baltuck would help "frame" the evidence. He said he consented.

This present case against Jacobs and May follows Justice Seeger's refusal of a divorce in Westchester County when his suspicions were aroused.

Boy Under Arrest Steals Wrench from Police

Westfield, June 22.—Ralph Dorrington would just as soon steal in the police station as in any other place.

Dorrington was arrested in connection with wholesale thefts of bicycles. He was ordered to the police station to assist in reassembling some of the stolen bicycles which he had dismantled.

While at work, it is charged, he stole a wrench belonging to the police department. He was on probation, and will probably be surrendered by the probation officer.

FRANCE REFUSES TO CUT ARMY

Paris, June 22 (I.N.S.).—France refuses to reduce her army until she obtains decisive pledges outside help in the event Germany goes to war again, it was officially stated today.

Foreign office officials revealed that France has answered the League of Nations disarmament questionaire by refusing to consider armament reduction until the states which are members of the league sign a mutual aid pact, guaranteeing to come to the assistance of France in case of "German aggression."

The questionaire related only to military armaments. France has not yet ratified the Washington conference agreement for limitation of naval armaments.

ARMED CONVICT KILLS 1, HOLDS OFF POSSE

Escanaba, Mich., June 22.—One deputy has been shot dead, a State trooper has been wounded and George Natchoes, Marquette prison killer, who escaped a week ago, is still at large, defying the efforts of a posse, 200 strong, to capture him.

Armed with a revolver, and plentifully supplied with ammunition, Natchoes has been surrounded in a desolate swamp near here. Several attacks by members of the posse have been met by a well-directed fire from the dense thickets in which Natchoes is concealed.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Curran was killed Wednesday by a bullet from Natchoes' revolver. Yesterday Lieutenant J. C. Cleghorn of the State police was shot through the abdomen, escaping death because a heavy belt buckle diverted the course of the bullet.

Authorities directing the man hunt believe Natchoes has become crazed by the heat and the ravages of insects in the swamp. Blood spattered on saplings, they say, indicates that he has been wounded.

Plans have been laid for a general flanking movement, with every able-bodied man in the vicinity taking part. The posse, several hundred strong, will close in on every side of the four-mile swamp.

Has Big Job Now

E. W. HIGGINS.

From butcher to sailor is a long jump, but "Bill" Higgins of Boston made it without straining a tendon. He went farther, becoming second officer of the Leviathan, queen of the seas.

"Bill," whose full name is Ephraim W. Higgins, was foreman of a meat and provision shop on Portland street before the war. When the United States entered the world conflict, Higgins took a course in navigation at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He received a rating as third mate, was then commissioned an ensign in the navy and later went as an officer on the American liner Mongolia. Up to the time of his new appointment Higgins never missed a trip.

When Captain Herbert Hartley was transferred from the Mongolia to the Leviathan he took "Bill" along as his second officer.

LANDLORD IS SOUGHT AS PICKPOCKET

As a result of a default warrant issued by Judge O'Connell in the Superior Court, the police of Boston and other cities are looking for Harry Gold, sometimes known as Harris Hoffman, said to be a Dorchester landlord, whose case, for larceny from the person, has been pending this week in Superior Court.

Gold was arrested by Patrolman Mark Morrison of the City Hall avenue station, on April 23, on a charge of picking the pocket of Fred H. Mosher in the Washington street subway station. In lower court, before Judge Duff, Gold was found guilty and given two years. He appealed and was out on $5,000 bail, which was defaulted.

The case has been before the court for a week, but has not been called. Morrison informed Judge O'Connell of the case pending, and asked for immediate trial. When Gold's name was called in court he did not answer. Counsel for Gold showed a letter to the court, stating that Gold was sick in bed in New York.

COPS MUST PHONE ABSENCE REPORT

Members of the Boston police force are required in an order by Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson to personally notify their commanding officers when, for any reason, they are unable to attend roll call.

He calls attention to the abuse of the privilege of delegating a person other than the officer concerned to notify the station, and orders patrolmen to telephone directly to their commanding officer, except when actually physically incapacitated by illness or injury.

CHELSEA BRIDGE FIRE HINDERS THOUSANDS

Chelsea south drawbridge took fire at midnight and burned four hours. Eastern Massachusetts Railway Company street car service was crippled. Two passenger-laden cars, both outgoing, were stalled at the bridge over night. Other cars, diverted through Everett and Charlestown, were an hour late. Fear is expressed that the draw will be out of commission for some time.

Thousands of persons, driven to Revere Beach by the heat wave, were forced to return home by the Narrow Gauge Railway or take a roundabout course through Everett and Charlestown or transfer to the Boston Elevated tunnel service at Bellingham station.

Both the Boston and Everett Fire Departments helped in fighting the flames. Fire Boat No. 41 of the Boston department used deck guns from a point near the bridge in the Mystic creek. The work of the latter company proved very effective. It could quelch fire beneath the structure.

Electric power along Chelsea street was shut off in the trolley wires. It was during this procedure that the two outgoing cars bound for Malden and Revere Beach were rendered helpless. Passengers were obliged to walk back to City Square and transfer to other diverted cars.

Motorists returning from the North Shore were compelled to retrace their courses through Everett or by way of the Revere Beach boulevard.

Firemen say the draw will be unsafe for service until extensive repairs are made. Thousands of women and men who patronize the line to come to their work in town started early from home to use the tunnel service from Bellingham Station or the Narrow Gauge road from other points.

It is believed the fire started in the wood planking from a lighted cigarette or the back fire of an automobile.

Chelsea south drawbridge is a temporary conveyance. Another bridge, built of steel, is under construction to the right of it. South draw has been in operation for about three years.

SAYS U. S. FLAG ON LEVIATHAN DUE TO HEARST

By Universal Service.
(Special Wireless Dispatch.)

Aboard Steamship Leviathan, at Sea, June 22.—British shipping men are quiet observers aboard this great American ship on her trial trip, and watch with critical eyes the Leviathan's performance for exhaustive and independent reports.

They will find the defects, if any, only minor, and less than those on their own ships. Members of the Shipping Board are elated at the vessel's showing. Mr. Gibbs, the supervising architect, said:

WILL TRIM BRITISH.

"I am not crowing, but the British will have their hardest proposition now in their lines on the North Atlantic, and I think we will give them a trimming."

Arthur Wallace Dunn, manager of the Washington office of the American Press Association, said:

"William Randolph Hearst deserves thanks that the Leviathan still flies the American flag under American government management rather than British. His injunction against the sale of the ship for $4,000,000 saved the day."

SPEED TEST TODAY.

Commissioner Plummer said:

"The American people should feel a great pride in the Leviathan and demand that the flag stay forever on the seas. I will fight to keep it there while I am on the board, and I am sure my associates also will do so."

BAND SCATTERS MOB AT JAIL

Houston, Tex., June 22.—A crowd of 2,500 persons, congregated about the jail here after three men from Goose Creek, near here, had been locked up for refusing to answer questions asked by a grand jury investigating flogging by masked men. The throng remained orderly and silent. When a band played a popular air the members quickly dispersed.

The mystery surrounding the demonstration is unexplained, but the crowd apparently was made up of friends of the imprisoned men. Goose Creek is a stronghold of the Ku Klux Klan.

The demonstration followed one on a smaller scale at the court house when Judge Robinson released the three witnesses to jail. The judge said the men would stay in jail until they answered the questions asked of them.

Dr. Murray asked officials there to investigate.

SEEK TO SHIFT COST OF ELLIS ISLAND

SAYS EX-HUSBAND IS COURTING HER

MRS. MAY B. HIGHT-HAMILTON

Mrs. May B. Hight-Hamilton, the young Brookline divorcee whose third and last husband accused her of smoking a pipe when the minister called, declares she has had an unusual post-divorce experience.

Frank S. Hamilton, Boston insurance man, the third husband, called her up on the telephone and invited her out to dinner to celebrate the first six months of their separation for life, according to Mrs. Hamilton.

CALLED "ALIMONY MAY."

Further, Mrs. Hamilton asserts, that her ex-husband has been doing sentry duty in front of her home on Steadman street, Brookline, nights and Sundays.

Efforts to locate Mr. Hamilton were unsuccessful.

Here is Mrs. Hamilton's story of her unusual experience:

"I've been married three times. The last was to Mr. Hamilton. We met through a matrimonial advertisement. He got a divorce. He called me 'Alimony May.' He said I married just to get alimony. Precious little alimony I've ever got from a man.

CALLED ON PHONE.

"So he was divorced and I thought I'd seen the last of him. But no. Lately—and I've got witnesses to prove it—he has been marching up and down in front of my house. Guess he thinks he's in the army. Nights and Sundays are his sentry hours. Rain doesn't make any difference.

"And then the climax. He called me on the phone.

"'May', says he, I knew the voice. 'May it is just six months to a day since the divorce. May, let's celebrate. What do you say to a dinner?'

Mrs. Hamilton paused. "I hung up the telephone," she exclaimed.

She went on: "Then he called me back. Said he wanted me to return to him. Quit your warlike actions and come back was what he said. He warned me that this was my last time. He said that unless I saw him again he would do something. 'I'll do some action stuff myself,' was what he said."

Mrs. Hamilton says she heard her ex-husband is going West soon and she thinks that he wanted her to get married again.

Mr. Hamilton was granted his divorce in December. He charged cruel and abusive treatment. His wife, he said, had smashed milk bottles over his head, smashed his mouth with her fists and ruined his clothing. He testified that she threw a flat iron at him. Testimony was given that Mrs. Hamilton, when a bride, smoked a cleryman by smoking a pipe when the good man called.

CROKER APPEAL TIME MAY BE EXTENDED

Dublin, June 22 (I.N.S.)—Lord Chief Justice Maloney, after hearing a motion today, indicated his willingness to extend the time in which the unsuccessful contestants of the will of Richard Croker may file an appeal.

The lawyer for Mrs. Bula Croker, widow and sole legatee, claimed that the extension was "merely an attempt to intimidate his client and to hamper her."

WOMAN AUTOIST BADLY HURTS MAN

Nazareth Fassoian of No. 623 Centre street, Jamaica Plain, was struck by an automobile operated by Miss Nellie Smith of No. 104 Hemenway street. The accident occurred at Pond and Centre street, not far from the injured man's home. He was taken to the City Hospital, suffering from a possible fracture of the back.

FINDS WOMEN MORE HONEST

Chicago, June 22.—The average man is honest, though profiteering and crime are unusually prevalent, Dr. William B. Forbush, head of the National Surety Company and president of the National Honesty Bureau, told about it today.

"Only one per cent. of $7,000,000 in surety bonds has been defaulted," he stated.

"The Chinese race is the most honest of the races in the world, with the Scandinavian second and the Saxon third, while the Turks and the Russians have no standing measured by the ordinary business code.

"Fat men are more honest than lean, married men more honest than single, old men more honest than young men and women more honest than men, despite the fact that 90 per cent of shoplifters are women. Women seldom embezzle—they take little things."

"The spirit of the old buccaneer in the boys and young men of today accounts for much of the crime, and good times on unearned money is one of the dangers of the age. The people want a good time whether

EXPERT REFUTES ART FAKE CHARGE

Paris, June 22.—Joseph Demotte, the antiquary, in an interview published in Le Journal today replies to the published statement of Miss Boutron that her late husband, a sculptor, had restored certain pieces in the Louvre at the instance of Demotte.

"I shall easily show her errors when we confront the judge in accordance with my demand," said the antiquary. "Furthermore, it is not so easy to devise vile accusations against who are entrusted with the direction of our museums."

SECRET SESSION OF PHONE GIRLS

the telephone company, and declared that the statement issued by General Manager Dresser was almost entirely untrue.

Referring to the statement of President M. E. Jones that operators should be content with their salaries, Miss O'Connor declared his salary had been increased from $15,000 to $20,000.

Miss Mary H. Brady, chairman of the committee in charge of the tabulation of votes, was authority for the statement that out of 7,599 ballots cast in New England 88 per cent. favored a strike.

BOSTON LOCAL IN FAVOR.

The Boston local voted overwhelmingly in favor of a strike, according to Miss O'Connor, president. Of 2,934 who cast ballots in Boston, 2,491 voted in favor of a strike and 140 against, she said. The seals of the ballot boxes were broken in the office of Miss Julia O'Connor, Tremont Building, in the presence of newspapermen.

It was also announced that locals in Springfield, Bridgeport and Providence voted unanimously in favor of a strike.

The percentage of operators who will answer the strike call will be very slight, Mr. Dresser declared earlier in the day, in view of the fact that locals in many New England cities and towns have announced they will not walk out.

"Our information confirms the belief we had hitherto entertained, namely, that if a strike is authorized only a small part of the operating forces will respond," he says.

"In Greater Boston less than 600 out of a total of approximately 6000 operators voted. In other words, over 90 per cent. of the operators refrained from participation."

NEYSA M'NEIN IS SECRETLY WED

They are expected to return to New York next week.

Neysa McMein came to New York a few years ago after she had worked her way through the Chicago Art Institute by writing music. During the war she went to France and painted striking posters of the doughboys.

Barnarwanath is a graduate of Columbia University. He lived in South America for nine years, where he made discoveries of valuable mining properties. This is his second marriage.

Interest is added to the romance because of the bride's well known views of love and matrimony.

In 1916 she said that "when I am thirty I expect that I shall have met the ideal man. I shall marry and have five children. I think that is an ideal family." But she recanted. Thirty and the ideal man had not appeared, and in 1922 she said she had reconsidered her earlier resolve and intended to remain a bachelor maid.

"I still think five children is the right number for those parents who can care for and educate them," she explained. "But I am married to my work and my pictures are my children. I am content. I don't think a woman who concentrates on her art as I do should marry. There would be only a tenth, perhaps a hundredth of my time and thought left for my husband."

Legs Tangled With Education; Modest Judge Blushes

New York, June 22 (I.N.S.)—Education, legs, indignation and modesty were jumbled in municipal court when Mrs. Mary Turek, a lady of large proportions, was called to explain why her fifteen-year-old son Francis was not in school, albeit he has a good job.

"It's a shame to force a body to come all the way over here with legs swollen like mine are," began Mrs. Turek, hoisting her skirts to give oracular proof of her infirmity.

"The judge turne away his head modestly, disclaiming any legal connection between swollen legs and Francis' non-attendance at school.

"Three dollars' fine or one day in jail," said the court.

MARION DANA, PSYCHOLOGIST, FOUND DEAD

New York, June 22.—Marion Dana, psychologist and holder of several degrees from Boston University, in private life, Mrs. Louis Couture, was found dead in the kitchen of her home on West 82nd street today.

At first it was believed she had been attacked, but chief medical examiner Norris attributed death to apoplexy.

Mrs. Couture found his wife's body on the floor. An ambulance surgeon notified the Medical Examiner's office that he had found bruises on the woman's neck, indicating that she had been attacked, but Dr. Norris dismissed this theory.

Mrs. Couture resigned last October as principal of the high school in Wattsfield, Vt., a month after her marriage.

Bolafd were sentenced to six months for absence without leave. Private James E. Carl received four months, and Private Collins H. Hall thirty-six days on the same charge.

REBELS DEFEATED BY BRAZIL'S REGULARS

Buenos Aires, June 22.—Regular troops in the Brazilian State of Rio Grande do Sul have captured the city of Alegrete after a sanguinary battle with the revolutionaries, according to dispatches from the border. The rebels were obliged to abandon their dead and wounded as well as their artillery in their forced retreat. Several rebel leaders and government officers were killed, but the total casualties are not known.

FOUR LOSE LIVES IN WATER

Two youthful campers, students at the North Brookfield High School, were drowned in Lake Lashaway near the upper shore under puzzling circumstances.

The drowned boys are Winthrop Newman, 17 years old, son of Alvin Newman of North Brookfield, and Arthur Cook, 15 years old, son of Henry Cook of North Brookfield.

The boys had gone swimming in the lake with other boys from whom they soon became separated. The latter heard the cries of the drowning boys and swam in their direction but arrived after they had disappeared from the surface.

FOUGHT NANTASKET "HOLD-UP" MAN, SAYS CABARET GIRL

DECLARES $175 IN BAG STOLEN

Boston Merchants Also to Testify at Trial of Seven Men in Brockton

Brockton, June 22.—Three Boston business men and four cabaret girls, victims of a hold-up near the Strait's Pond House at Nantasket, May 26 last, of which seven South Boston men are accused, were called here before Judge Qua in Plymouth County Superior Court as witnesses against the men.

It is alleged that the Boston men and girls in two auto parties went to Pemberton Inn the evening of May 26. In one machine were Grace Mordaun, William H. Murphy and Anna Goldstein. In the other were James P. Battiste, John Sullivan, June Richards and Katherine Sears.

They left Pemberton Inn at a late hour and went to Strait's Pond House, Nantasket. It was about two o'clock in the morning when they arrived there. They left the House about three, and on the way to Boston by the Nantasket road one of the machines became stalled. Immediately they were surrounded by seven men, they claim, who held them up and seized most of their jewelry.

The men now on trial are: James J. Foley, Thomas J. Gordon, John J. Maguire, Vincent Courtney, James A. Moynihan, Joseph W. Kain and John Kain, all of South Boston. They pleaded not guilty. They are represented by ex-Senator William H. McDonnell, of South Boston.

After a conference at the bench, District Attorney Harold Williams announced that so much of the indictment as charged each of the seven with robbery would be not pressed.

GIRL TELLS OF LOSING $175.

The first witness for the government was Grace Modaun. She testified that on the night in question she went to Pemberton with Murphy and Anna Goldstein. One other machine was with them all the time. They then went to Nantasket, the witness continued, and left there at 3:30 in the morning. When they reached Nantasket avenue, their machine stalled. Four men surrounded the machine and one, according to the witness, said to the driver, Miss Goldstein: "You can't drive that machine, get out and let me drive it." According to her testimony, a fight started between the driver and the man. Another man meanwhile, reached in the machine and stole her handbag containing $175, she said.

She got out and gave chase to the man. He stopped about 200 feet from the machine and she struggled for some time before assistance came in the struggle, she declares, she lost her pendant.

ADMITS ARREST.

On cross-examination by Attorney McDonnell, Miss Modaun admitted that she was the same woman arrested in Wakefield, with Joseph Battiste, charged with a statutory offence and fined $50. She admitted being married at one time, but was divorced, and that Grace Modaun was her "professional name."

Her maiden name was Grace Tandeo and when married it was Grace Westerley. She denied being the same person arrested with a man by the name of Walker.

Others robbed on the same night, it is alleged, were: Joseph Battiste, overcoat; June Richards, gold watch, vanity case and bunch of keys; William Murphy, gold chain, watch and gold knife, and Anna Richards, one handbag.

ROXBURY BOY FREED IN SHOOTING FATHER

Arthur J. Walsh, seventeen years old, of No. 29 Linden Park street, Roxbury, who to protect his mother wounded his father, Richard F. Walsh, was found not guilty by Judge Hayden in Roxbury Court on the charge of assault with a loaded revolver. Judge Hayden postponed his decision till September 21 in the case of the father, after hearing evidence on the charge of assault on Mrs. Walsh.

He has not been heard from since June 4. His family fearing that he may have met some mishap has appealed to the Boston American to help find him. He is about five feet eight inches tall with blue eyes and a dark complexion. When he left home he was wearing a black jumper, blue overalls and black shoes and stockings.

ISADORA YEARNS FOR PYRE FINISH

Paris, June 22.—Death on a pyre with a thousand red-cocked children singing the "Internationale" is Isadora Duncan's idea of a happy ending. She expressed desire for that kind of finish as a contrast to the "respectable funeral with black plumes and black mitted cronge mortals would bestow to the refined Russian who recently called Serge Essenine, her husband, "a drunken moujik," not to mention making adverse complimentary remarks on the dancer herself.

Isadora Duncan

Isadora also assured the author of her unpleasant remarks that if it were not for his age, Esseniue would make him eat his words as well as his teeth.

PROSPERITY IN SUMMER 'ADS,' SAYS EXPERT

Pittsfield, June 22.—Harold A. Thurlow, lecturer on advertising at Boston University, told the members of the Massachusetts Retail Merchants Association today not to judge from the way in which some merchants curtail their advertising and sales efforts during the summer months one would assume that newspaper readers go blind in warm weather.

"If," he said, "merchants would only remember that even on the hottest day men, women and children wear clothes, eat food and even go shopping. I feel sure they would not relax their efforts in advertising and sales.

"It is a well-known fact that many women prefer the metropolitan newspapers that carry the most big department store advertising. Capitalize on that habit and make your advertising newsy. The newspaper is the most productive medium for retail advertising. No other offers the advantage of timeliness.

"A story message can be pieced before people within a few hours while it is news. Such an advertisement well planned generally brings immediate business. The element of reiteration is important. The newspaper is a daily reminder that influences the mind, not the occasional message. The larger part of the 4,000 square miles of advertising space lined in all publications throughout the country each year is placed in newspapers.

"Advertising that runs with the news is valuable. Know that your advertising is right, then go ahead an step ahead by constantly keeping your store name and news before the people of your community through newspaper advertising."

The convention instructed Henry B. Peckham, a tax expert of Boston, to seek a different interpretation from Washington of the ruling which now places inches on overshoes as luxuries and taxes them five per cent, accordingly. Merchants who have failed to pay that tax on time, it was asserted, have been assessed 25 per cent. of the total as a fine. Mr. Peckham declared the law was obviously aimed to cover only jeweled buckles on women's shoes, but had been stretched to a ridiculous degree.

TO OPERATE ON SPAIN'S HEIR

New York, June 22.—Dr. Curtis H. Mineie, an osteopathic specialist in deafness, will sail for Europe on the Majestic Saturday, to perform an operation on a patient whose hearing is defective. Dr. Mineie stated that the operation would be witnessed by many foreign specialists, but he refused to describe its nature or reveal the identity of the patient, explaining that professional etiquette forbade.

Particular reticence was manifest by Dr. Mineie when he was asked about reports that his destination was Spain, and that the subject of the operation would be Alfonso, the Prince of Asturias, heir to the Spanish throne, who has suffered from deafness since birth.

Allenton, Pa.—Five passengers are in a hospital with minor injuries received when the Syracuse-Philadelphia train on the Central railroad of New Jersey struck the rear end of a local train. That local was hit while backing up to pick up a man it had struck.

PARENTS URGED TO KEEP BOYS FROM BOATS

The Massachusetts Safety Council, in State-wide message, called attention to the fact that a majority of the most recent drowning accidents involved children and urged parents to warn them against boating or canoeing with other children incompetent to handle such craft.

"During periods of extreme heat—and we are entering upon the season of such periods—persons who are more or less exhausted by the weather should swim only in safe bathing places, and should not attempt to do stunts in the water," the council advises.

MONTANA SENATOR TELLS JAPS, THEY ARE UNEQUAL

Tokio, June 22.—"It is useless for the Japanese to hope Americans will accept them on equality with other aliens," declared United States Senator Walsh of Montana, to a group of Japanese newspapermen. He was replying to the plea of Baron Shidehara that a basis of discussion be appointed to adjudicate racial questions between the nations.

"American will not marry Japanese," declared Senator Walsh. "The Japanese are unassimilable and in emergency they are not Americans but always Japanese."

The interview brought down a storm of criticism in Tokio.

ASKS COURT TO VIEW HER SWOLLEN LIMBS

New York, June 22.—Mrs. Mary Turek, an immigrant landed court proceedings for recovery of jewelries which she demanded Magistrate Brough raise upon her limbs and see for himself how they were swollen, and having done so, admitted the Court had no right to compel her appearance to answer a charge that her son was a truant.

Magistrate Brough lifted his hands aghast. Two court attendants reached of Mrs. Turek just in time to stop her as she raised her skirts to the calves of her legs.

RUTLAND HOSPITAL BUILDINGS AS STOREHOUSES

WHITE PLAGUE VETS ARE VICTIMS OF RED TAPE

By CHARLES O. POWER.

Care and treatment of people afflicted with tuberculosis is the principal industry of the little town of Rutland, which nestles in the hills of Central Massachusetts. The State of Massachusetts maintains one sanatorium there, and the United States government has established another for veterans of the World War.

In a majority of the homes in the town may be found guests who are receiving private treatment. Not so many years ago Rutland was a very busy farming community. Its dairy products found a ready market and the business was profitable. But the dairying and farming features of the community life amount to very little now and the summer hotel business has almost entirely disappeared.

Not so many years ago Rutland was a popular summer resort, but the growth of sanatoria for the care of those suffering from lung trouble seems to have frightened the visitors away. There are a number of small private hospitals besides the institutions conducted by the state and the United States Veterans Bureau.

COMPARISONS ODIOUS

Truly, comparisons are odious in the cases of these institutions. The state sanatorium is beautifully located. The U. S. Government sanatorium is not. The approach to the former is easy. The approach to the latter is anything but easy. The buildings of the state are handsome and inviting. That cannot be said of the buildings set apart for disabled soldiers. The grounds surrounding the State sanatorium are splendidly laid out and well kept. Just the reverse is true of the grounds on which the national hospital is located.

The national government hospital is not fulfilling its purpose. It is the victim of red tape, negligence and lack of comprehension of its needs and possibilities on the part of Washington officials in charge of the hospital division of the bureau. Here is a hospital plant capable of affording care and treatment to 220 patients. At the present time it has 41. By the first of July, according to bureau officials, 58 more will be there. They do not know, nor have they any idea, when full bed capacity of the hospital will be utilized.

It is estimated that this property already has cost the United States government about $400,000. This does not represent a good bargain. To make it serve its real purpose to the full hospital officials have requested the erection of ten more buildings, some of them of comparatively small size, and others of generous proportions. The best bid for carrying out the specifications of this program is $491,000. Washington authorities have refused to approve the program or the bid and so, instead of caring exclusively for veterans of the World War, who are victims of the white plague, the buildings are being used largely as common storehouses for equipment and as living quarters for the hospital help.

OPENED MAY 15.

The government sanatorium at Rutland was opened on May 15. The officers were ordered to make ready for the immediate reception of 100 patients. Instead of that number, 25 arrived the first week and 16 have been added to the fold since then. It is said that fifteen patients who are being cared for at the Summit Hospital, twelve at the Huntress and eight at Dr. Crane's, all of them on contract, are to be transferred to the hospital on June 30. These thirty-five with fifteen from other private contract hospitals in the vicinity, will make up the fifty which the hospital officials have been notified will put in an appearance about July 1.

Dr. Henry Rolf Brown, medical officer in charge of the hospital, has been in Washington for a week endeavoring to give the bureau officials a real idea of the possibilities of the institution and a word picture of the prevailing hampering conditions. It seems ridiculous, but it is a fact, that there are just about as many employes at the institution at the present time as there are patients. There are five doctors, eight nurses, fourteen orderlies, six maids, four cooks and three chauffeurs, making a total personnel of forty. The fault for this lack of progress does not lie with Dr. Brown and his staff, but with the Washington officials. They have been inexcusably dilatory.

MIGHT CUT SOMEWHERE.

It may be that the building program suggested by the hospital officials is somewhat elaborate and predicated upon a vision of ideal conditions. While there may be some common sense in the disapproval of the complete proposal by the Washington officials, there is no reason or excuse for simply doing nothing to improve conditions. The building program calls for a home for the medical officer in charge, houses for members of the staff and their families, a house for nurses' quarters, a storage building, a mess hall, improvements in the power, heating and refrigerating plants and a better kitchen. Some of these things might be dispensed with, but a storage house is absolutely necessary and so are larger kitchen facilities. Temporary expedients could solve other problems while the big one is worked out.

There are six wards in one building and two in another, besides a number of private rooms for very sick cases. Much of the room in the larger building is clogged with equipment and supplies. If these things could be removed to a storage house the hospital wards could be utilized to their full bed capacity and it would be necessary only to secure the services of half a dozen more nurses. There are enough doctors and enough orderlies and enough maids and enough cooks and enough chauffeurs and general help to care for the running of this hospital with 220 patients. They are now serving the needs of only 41, because much space which should be arranged and equipped for the care of human beings is being used as a shelter for dead material.

THERE'S ROOM IN TOWN.

The orderlies, maids, the cooks and chauffeurs have quarters on the grounds. Doctors and nurses are living in the ward buildings. It should not be an impossibility to provide them with private quarters in some of the homes in the town. At any rate, the few changes essential to transform this boarding and storage house into a hospital should and easily could be made, so that the government could realize adequately on its financial investment and afford the soldiers receive the most approved medical care and treatment under governmental supervision.

For the care of soldiers in the Summit and Huntress hospitals the contract calls for the payment of $24.50 a week per soldier, and the Crane Hospital receives $28. It costs the State of Massachusetts about $15 a week per patient for the upkeep of its sanatorium in Rutland, always filled to its capacity of 365, and there is no reason why the national institution cannot be conducted for about the same cost. Nothing more could be done for tubercular patients than is done in the State institution. They have every convenience and comfort that money can secure. They say their every wish is gratified and speak warmly in appreciation of the kindness and helpfulness of doctors, nurses and attendants.

The State Department of Health officials are particularly pleased with the results of the work at Rutland. They have every reason to be, because the death rate among the State's patients has steadily decreased in the last few years. The doctors at the U. S. Bureau hospital are just as experienced and just as much interested in their work as the doctors in the State hospital and undoubtedly could accomplish as good results if the national government would be as responsive to their needs as the State government has been to the needs of its institution.

Work on a new storagehouse should be begun right away and the kitchen in the soldiers' hospital should be enlarged at once.

NO RECONCILIATION IN NICHOLS FAMILY

ONE-WAY PLAN PROPOSED FOR MAGAZINE ST.

Councilman Franklin H. Wright of Ward 7 will introduce an order in the Cambridge City Council next Tuesday night to make Magazine street in that city a one-way street. He also intends to circulate a petition for the purpose of getting the sentiment of Cambridge residents on the change and holding a public hearing following the introduction of the order.

Councilman Wright's plans is to use Magazine street for inward bound traffic to Central square, and to divert outward traffic over River street to Pleasant street and from there to the boulevard when the latter street is extended.

2ND PATIENT GIVEN X-RAY CANCER CURE

New York, June 22.—N. S.—That the fifty-six-hour X-ray treatment for cancer recently given Miss Ellis at Grace Hospital has been sufficiently successful to warrant experiments on another patient was the statement today of Dr. I. Seth Hirsch, head of the X-ray department.

Although Dr. Hirsch stated at the time of the first treatment that he could not positively determine its success until at least two weeks had elapsed, Miss Ellis has shown so much improvement during the past seven days that another patient was put under the X-ray today.

Miss Ellis was subjected to 250,000 volts, the most drastic treatment ever given a cancer patient. Despite the tremendous force of the rays, she suffered no pain or inconvenience during the fifty-six hours, with the exception of occasional nausea.

The whole medical profession has been watching the outcome of the experiment with intense interest, as it may point the way to a successful cure of what has been the most baffling of diseases.

REVERE WIFE IS GRANTED DIVORCE

Mrs. Harry Rosenbloom, twenty years old, No. 209 Walnut avenue, Revere, was granted a divorce decree nisi in Superior Court on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment. Married two years ago, Mrs. Rosenbloom said she and her husband were happy about a week.

"Another week and he was pushing me around and hurting me by twisting my arms," she testified. "He would not work. If he ever had any money, he did not show it to me." Mrs. Rosenbloom said her husband had threatened her with her life if she informed the police he was a dope pedlar, "and until then I didn't know he was one," she said. He is now in California, she said.

"They Put Out a Good Car Last Year"

How often one hears remarks similar to this one concerning some make of car. One of the outstanding virtues of the Peerless is its unfailing year-after-year reliability. By reliability we mean that regularity of performance—that certainty of arriving—whether the destination be a dozen blocks or a thousand miles away. Peerless has attained that which owners value above all else—a constancy in its good qualities, which is the real secret not merely of motoring enjoyment, but in the long run determines both the economy and the value of a fine car.—Advt.

STUDENTS, ILL AFTER BANQUET, RECOVERING

Despite the fact that several members of the senior class at Lynn English High School were poisoned at the annual senior class banquet held this week, it is expected that all those who suffered from the effects of the banquet will participate in the graduating exercises at 8 o'clock this evening in the Waldorf Theatre, Summer street, Lynn.

Barbara Harwood M. P. Cunningham

The biggest graduating class in the history of English High School will receive diplomas tonight, when Mayor Harland A. McPhetres will present their diplomas to the graduates.

Mary P. O'Neill Dorothy Lilljedah

The banquet was considered one of the most successful ever held by a graduating class until reports came in the next day regarding the condition of different students who were taken ill.

It is believed that the lobster salad combined with the unusual heat was partly responsible in causing several members of the student body as well as the faculty to be stricken. Officials place no blame on the caterer.

Norman Folson Principal Willard

Among those who were reported ill as a result of the banquet were: Frederic Willard, principal of English High School; Miss Mary P. O'Neill, a member of the faculty and the senior class adviser; Melville P. Cunningham, president of the class; Edna O. Spinney, Allen Donovan, James C. Walker, Thomas Griffin, Jr., Miss Marie Callahan, office secretary; Barbara Harwood, class secretary; Norman F. Folson and Dorothy Lilljedah.

Several other students were reported as slightly affected as a result of the banquet.

DOG BITES BOY AND WOMAN IN EVERETT

A dog, crazed by the heat, ran wild through many Everett streets. Before he was killed by bullets from a police revolver, he attacked John Witten, six years old, of No. 41 Calhoun avenue and bit the youngster on the leg. He continued on his rampage and sunk his teeth into the ankle of Mrs. Josephine Parrisa of No. 10 Clay avenue. Scores of children retreated in all directions with the crazed dog at their heels.

ARLINGTON DOGS MUST BE MUZZLED

As the result of the number of attacks by dogs the past week upon residents of the town, the Arlington Board of Selectmen has issued an order to Chief of Police Urquhart that all dogs must be muzzled or properly restrained until further notice. Starting today all dogs at large without a muzzle will be shot.

Gypsy Tells Patron to Sit Still as $20 Vanishes

Mount Vernon, N. Y., June 22.—"Sit still for ten minutes after I leave you, then put your hand in your vest pocket and you will find yourself a rich man," a gypsy fortune teller told David Marsh in his home here.

After ten minutes Marsh put his hand in his pocket. A $20 bill was gone. So was the gypsy.

COMES TO WORK, WINS A MATE

The romance of a girl who came to a big city to win her fortune is revealed in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret Ella Macnerowe of Boston and Shedlac, N. B., to Raymond Knight of Boston.

Miss Macnerowe, the daughter of Mrs. John Macnerowe, of Shedlac, found employment in the clerical department of a large Boston office.

Mr. Knight, who is junior partner in the firm of Stone & Webster, Inc., of Boston, New York and many other cities, was frequently taken by the routine of business to the office in which Miss Macnerowe was employed.

In a short time the engagement of the young couple was announced. The wedding will take place soon.

CARMEN MEET TO CONSIDER NEW 'L' SCALE

Members of the Boston Carmen's Union gathered in Tremont Temple to decide whether they will accept or reject the new wage scale offered by the trustees of the Boston Elevated Railroad. A second meeting will be held in Tremont Temple tonight.

The existing agreement expires June 30. It calls for 61 cents an hour for eight hours, and time and a half for overtime.

The Union wage scale committee asks for an increase of 20 cents an hour, to go into effect July 1. Company officials declare the demand is too high.

Executives of the Carmen's Union declare war time prices are prevalent, and that a dollar has only 40 per cent. of its former purchasing power. It is expected a compromise may be effected.

Arbitration on the wage scale of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company will begin Tuesday. Former Attorney General Henry C. Attwill, now chairman of the Public Utilities, will be the neutral arbiter.

Bullet Wound Fatal

3000-MILE TRIP TO BOOM FILM THRILLER

To arouse public interest in the "Covered Wagon," a thrilling film melodrama now showing at the Majestic Theatre, and which depicts the life and vicissitudes of those hardy pioneers, the "Forty-Niners," as they relentlessly pushed their way across the continent in their "prairie schooners," the Famous Players Lasky Corporation has adopted the novel publicity scheme of sending a train of three "schooners," manned by members of the "Covered Wagon" company, on a long transcontinental trip.

The trip, which will start from Boston early in September, will end at Portland, Oregon, some time late in July, 1924. The distance covered will be far in excess of 3,000 miles.

GO BY OLD TRAIL.

The "schooners" which will make the trip are exact replicas of those used by the pioneers in their long, but thrilling trips across the continent and will be drawn by mules. And the route to be taken by the three wagons will be the same as that pursued by the emigrants as they blazed their intrepid way in the face of a thousand dangers.

The route extends along the Mohawk Trail, thes across the Central States to the Oregon Trail, and finally along the Oregon to Portland, Oregon. The trip will take about ten months. All the important cities along the route will be visited.

HARDING TO PRESENT FILM.

At the end of the trail in Portland, Oregon, the Famous Players Lasky Corporation has arranged to have President Harding present the Oregon Trail Association with a film of the "Covered Wagon."

The "fleet" of schooners will be under the command of Charles H. Wellington, a member of the Famous Players. Accompanying him will be many other members of the "Covered Wagon" company, including Etta Bradley, a soprano; Marguerite Porter, also a soprano; Hazel Rees, a dansuese; Ruth Norris, a mezzo-soprano; Clara K. Leavitt, a contralto, and Ben Redden, a tenor.

Eight other young men, not including two men who will be in charge of the mules, will also make the trip. They all took part in the filming of the picture.

However, before the "schooners" begin their trans-continental trip, they will make a tour of many of the big county fairs in New England. Hence, New England people will have an excellent opportunity of seeing them.

TO CROSS CONTINENT

WILL EMULATE PIONEERS OF '49

"Covered Wagon" players who are to make a transcontinental tour from Boston to Portland, Oregon, in July, by way of the Oregon Trail. They will travel in three "prairie schooners, hauled by mules, and the trip is expected to cover ten months. Left to right are: Charles H. Wellington, Ruth Norris, Etta Bradley, Ben Ridding and Clara K. Jewett. Before their departure they will visit many county fairs in New England.

GERMAN BANKS TRY TO CHECK MARK DROP

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.
Universal Service Cable.

Berlin, June 22.—With the total circulation of German paper money aggregating well over eleven trillion marks, another desperate attempt is announced by the government to check the flight of the mark before the advance of the dollar.

An attempt is to be made to drive the mark upwards and try to dig in and hold it at 100,000 to the dollar. It is announced.

An agreement has been reached between the principal banks of Germany and the government to centralize dealing in foreign exchange. The banks themselves will designate certain banks as "division banks" or "foreign exchange banks," and they will only be permitted to deal in foreign exchange. In return for this they propose to create a "credit organization," which will reinforce the government efforts to stabilize the mark at 100,000 to the dollar by placing to the credit of the government foreign exchange running into many millions of dollars.

That loan to the government is to be repaid to the banks within six months.

The mark, which was quoted at 124,000 to the dollar, began to break fast, and later, upon pessimistic political news from London and quotations from New York, was selling at the curb for 150,000 to the dollar.

TREASURY AID HITS FOREIGN ALLIANCES

Eliot Wadsworth, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, speaking at the alumni exercises, a part of Harvard's 287th commencement, voiced a plea against any entangling alliances.

"By keeping ourselves free and uncommitted; by keeping strong; by handling our own business efficiently," said Mr. Wadsworth, "we are in the long run conserving and building up a force which will prove of untold benefit in the re-establishment of Europe."

He discussed the Ruhr situation, pointing out that a new method of war had been adopted by that incident—a war of economic forces.

"A few thousand men in blue uniforms are carrying on an effective pressure upon a nation of 60,000,000 people," he said.

NEW HISTORY MADE.

"New history was made in every battle of the Great War and new history is being made today as the stoppage in the Ruhr Valley quietly but inevitably affects one community after another hundreds of miles from what might have been the scene of ordinary warfare.

"This is the great issue of the moment, but there are many others, political and economic, in Europe, the Near East and Russia which must be worked out on the ground by the peoples and their governments.

They alone can bring about a settlement and adjust the conflicting interests and hatreds brought about by the upheaval of the war, the fall of long established government systems, and the requisition of a continent.

Taunton Parents Back Students in Controversy Over Secret Sorority

Taunton, June 22.—A controversy involving the activities of the Kappa Phi Delta Sorority, a girl's secret society at the Taunton High School, not recognized by either faculty or school board, has created intense interest here.

On the one side is arrayed F. C. Ward, master of the high school, supported by most of the students, who demand that the society go out of existence.

On the other hand are eleven senior girls, members of the society, who are backed by fond and doting parents.

Mr. Ward was ordered to appear before the board of governors of the organization to explain reported [illegible]

Mr. Ward, interviewed, declared the "frat" is not recognized as a school society and is a movement born of snobbishness.

BOASTED OF PLAN.

Parents of some of the offending girls Mr. Ward said have protested to him, declaring that it was unfair to make the girls come to school next Monday. Others of the parents he declared have however commended his action. Before the girls went on the party, he said, they had openly boasted that they were to absent themselves from school.

"There is room in high schools for secret organizations of this nature as they set up class distinction among the students. The high school does not recognize the Kappa Phi Delta but it advertises itself as a school institution," he said.

The society is confined to members ship to 12 girls of the senior class of twelve juniors invited to join the society, three refused.

What are the morals of the city?

Of the small town? Is your idea of morality like your neighbor's? Can there be one standard of morality for us all? Here is a great question discussed from many view points by Gene Stratton-Porter, Coningsby Dawson and others.

Morality in the small town

The small town has its own conception of morality. And the most popular author in the world has written her best novel about it. Gene Stratton-Porter's "The White Flag" pitilessly reveals the moral outlook of the small town, its guarded secrets, its amazing hypocrisy. It strips the big town's accusers of their pretense. Little Red-Ridinghood

By La Monte Waldron

NOW Little Red Riding Hood was sent by her maternal parent to the bungalow of her Grandma to take her a bowl of chop suey and some other goodies. But it seems that Grandma had suffered another attack of shopping panic and had taken an early train to town. A Wolf, who was broke and afflicted with a splendid appetite, chanced to see Little Reddy pass and was vaulting a fence to [illegible] the rich Dopehurst "Tum is a fine fat lil' Chicken," says Mr. Wolf. "Put up your mitts!" said Little Reddy, pulling the cat and covering the imposter. "Do you think you can put any of that old bunk over on me? Put 'em up and get out of the hay!"

The chagrined Mr. Wolf realized that he was undone and obeyed, growling but frightened. Little Reddy noosed the clothes line around him and knotted it. Then doubling her little pink fist, she gave him an uppercut on the jaw that sent him into a corner for the count.

"That's that," she said. "Now, you poor simp, I'm going for the dog-chasers!"

A man entering a crowded railway car and placed a heavy box on the rack. A fellow passenger was sitting underneath, and he kept on looking at the bulky package, fearing it would fall on him. For some time he managed to keep silent, but when the train went over a point in the rails, and the box gave an ominous lurch, he turned to the owner and said: "Excuse me, but do you think that box is quite safe?" "Oh, yes," replied the other cheerfully, "it's locked."

Richards Attacks 'Blind Draw' for Title Tennis

STARS ARE BUNCHED TOGETHER

By VINCENT RICHARDS
Copyright, 1923, By Universal Service

London, June 22 The 'Blind draw," which was made for the so-called world's championship, which starts at Wimbledon next Monday is indeed unfortunate

In the first quarter of the men's singles one finds stars like William Johnston, the famous little Californian. In the second quarter the present champion, Jean Borotra, the Frenchman, and Jacques Brugnon, another Frenchman, are placed.

Vin Richards, veteran of many European tourneys

J. Washer, who recently secured Bill Johnston to five sets in the third court championship of the world at St Cloud, will meet the winner in the first round at Wimbledon

Francis T Hunter, form er national indoor title holder, has the premier position in the other quarter of the draw his only seeded opponents before the latter reaching being Gordon Lowe and Colin Dewhurst so it would seem that Anderson is assured of one Round

Hunter is in excellent form now as he worked out every day on Aquitania while we were crossing the ocean and gives every indication of being in the best form of his entire career

The draw for the Women's championship is very interesting By some curious coincidence, Suzanne Lenglen, World's Woman's Champion, was the first name to be drawn out of the hat and there seems very likelihood of another meeting between her and Molla Mallory in the final round of this event

ROX. CATHOLIC CLUB OPENS THE SEASON

Remember the Time—

By Jack Casey

YER used to holler at Willie boys, "Does yer mother know year out?" an' if they stuck out their tongues at you yer'd run till yer caught them an' then bloody their noses. An' the Sunday you caught "whitey," the snipe who had been yellin' fer weeks at you, "Oh, Casey he waltzed with a strawberry blonde, an' the band played on," an' make a wreck out of him in his Sunday clothes. An' his yells brought his long-legged dad an' you went over the ground so fast church folks thought yer were flyin'.

There was always a Mechanics Hall at the County Fair, with all the modern farm implements on exhibition, an' the slick city salesmen talked the poor farmers into lendin' up with some latest improved plough. Yer used an old horse medicine bottle almost as big as yerself for a doll, wrapped it up an' played with it for weeks.

Men put blocks of salt in the barns for their horses, nailin' 'em on the wall in the stall over the mangers. An' the horses would reach up an' lick the salt, which made yer shiver as yer never could dope out what there was in salt that would interest a horse.

When yer went ridin' on Sunday in the surrey yer ma wouldn't start till the robe was well tucked around the kids' feet. The latest styles in foot rugs for buggies was a hairy woolen mat which came in the brightest of red and yellow or orange an' looked awful when soiled.

The brown hen adopted three ducklings an' everybody goin' by yer gran'ma's in the Summer time, would stop an' laugh to see 'em' followin' the hen across the road. Yer wouldn't catch bullfrogs because yer was scared yer'd get warts on yer hands, an' yer cousin Nina would not let any boy in the township stump her an' her athletic feats was always somethin' for you to admire, especially when she'd jump out of the barn loft on the hanging tackle swing a minute an' then drop into a load of hay in a wagon below waitin' to be put into the loft.

There was a farmer near yer gran'ma's who had lightnin' rods on everything but the old brindle cow, an' along came a thunder storm an' lightnin' struck everything but the cow.

Indoor sport for youngsters was copy of Gibson girls, there wasn't any skating rinks an' Carrie "Nation was ruinin' saloons. Yer bought a top for two cents, but discarded the cord that went with it as it was no good an' used fish line with a button on the end to hold in yer hand between yer third an' fourth fingers.

REMEMBER?

I'LL SAY YER DO!

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

THERE are so many marriages at this time of the year that it keeps the average person broke buying wedding presents for their friends.

JUST as soon as you succeed in saving seventy-five or a hundred dollars, the girl who lives next door to you goes and gets herself a husband.

SO it's up to you to give the bride and groom something besides your congratulations.

YOUR heart may be with them, but they can't pawn good wishes.

ONE couple quarrelled so much before they were married that on their wedding day the guy in the next block gave them a scrap book.

UNDERNEATH it was written, "In times of peace prepare for war."

BUT the motto should have been, "I have met the enemy and she is mine."

A GUY doesn't mind buying a wedding present for a friend of his once or twice, but it's carrying it too far when he gets married every year.

ONE dame got married and the woman next door gave her two dozen eggs and then went over and borrowed them.

IN fact she was so in the habit of borrowing everything, that the bride had to keep the groom locked up.

THIS neighbor never returned any books or phonograph records so what chance did you stand of getting her husband back.

THE average friend gets more excited over the wedding than the bride and groom. One guy was so excited that he gave the bride a pair of suspenders and presented the groom with a set of earrings.

MOST people feel badly to see their friends get married. One man got married and his chum couldn't have felt worse if it had been his own wedding.

BUT other men like to see their friends get married, it gives them a place to go and eat.

A FELLOW has to eat a bride's wedding cake a while to make him feel more kindly toward restaurants.

BUT couples still continue to get married in June. So whenever you're in doubt as to what kind of a present to send the groom, give him an aeroplane because it won't be long before his bride will give him the air.

HARBORING SPITEFUL THOUGHTS OF OTHERS DOES YOU GREATER INJURY.

You certainly can pick the flaws in the other fellow.

You seldom think how you should live yourself in comparison.

Often you have such spiteful, hateful thoughts about others.

Do those spiteful thoughts get you anywhere?

If you but knew it, the harboring of such thoughts is doing you a greater injury than the one against whom you endeavor to work.

If it were in your power you would do something to harm that person you hate, and perhaps despise with reason, but what good would it do you?

If you thought you would not be caught at it you would do some despicable deed, and then have your life to regret it.

You would not be so good as others suppose you are if it were not for the opinion of people.

You abhor publicity when it comes to having the world know of your misdeeds, but if you do such deeds the world has a right to know.

If you answer yourself all these questions honestly as to whether it has ever done you any good to be spiteful and underhanded, you must say that it has not done you lasting good, and it is surely shortsighted.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

The Boston American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston American.

"Freddy, you shouldn't laugh out loud in the schoolroom," exclaimed the teacher.

"I didn't mean to do so," said Freddy. "I was smiling when all of a sudden the smile busted."

High-Grade Railroad Shares Lead New York Market in Further Recovery

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

The best time to buy stocks is when everybody wants to sell. That is the condition today.

* * *

What has been happening this week in the stock market has been caused in no small measure by what has been happening among brokerage houses and by false rumors as to what was about to happen to other firms. Wall Street is the most excitable place in America. It is constantly falling into scares or fumbling itself into panics. Because it has been suffering from a bad attack of "nerves." When in that pathetic state of mind, Wall Street ceases to consider the actual values of securities and concerns itself with plunging on the market as much as possible in the quickest time possible.

* * *

Just as the person who becomes angry loses all facility for sound reasoning and sane and deep-seated counsel for things on Wall Street often lose their head, does all sorts of foolish things.

Wall Street, in my opinion, is doing foolish things at this moment.

Wasn't it Josh Billings who said that the most dangerous are the ones that never happen"?

Wall Street at this instant is more alarmed over troubles that have happened than over anything that has happened.

I don't believe that half the things Wall Street is frightening itself over will happen.

The assurance given by President Grenfell of the New York Stock Exchange that investigation had uncovered no weakness whatsoever in the condition of any of the Stock Exchange firms talked about, ought to have a distinctly calming effect upon those who are allowing themselves to become tremendously excited. It was unfortunate, of course, that within twenty-four hours of the time he made his statement, a very well known Stock Exchange house was thrown into bankruptcy. But Mr. Grenfell promptly explained that the Stock Exchange had not investigated this particular firm, as it had heard nothing to prompt such an investigation.

This is not so astonishing as it may strike many people as. We had heard extreme rumors about Zimmerman and Forshay. But those familiar with the long record and the financial strength of this firm were justified in having faith in it. When I first came to this country I wanted to buy Scottish bonds in order to send cash to my parents and I found that I could get better service from Zimmerman & Forshay than from anyone else. Largely from sentimental reasons, I have deposited money and done business with them ever since, although I have, therefore, something at stake, and although the stoppage of their business is, of course, terribly awkward, I still have every confidence that they conducted their business honestly and I and others who have left paid-for securities there will find them untouched. I believe, too, that depositors stand a good chance of getting most, if not all, of their money back in due course.

* * *

Instead of becoming panicky, the wisest way to examine things is to say that trustworthy stocks are distinctly more attractive at this week's close than they were when people were tumbling over one another to buy them $10, $20 and $30 a share higher. Buy cheap and sell dear is a good axiom to be guided by. Stocks are always a better purchase when they are being under-bought than when they are being over-bought.

GAINS APPEAR FOR NUMEROUS ISSUES

Hullo-grade railroad shares led the further recovery in the New York stock market today, with gains appearing in numerous specialties. Purchases showed their customary strength for a comeback from Pacific-gained holdings, but a pretty wide list of issues participated.

With broker confidence apparently restored by the evidence of the market and banking support extended to securities markets, having proved numerous at the opening for this week, there is some interest in how far points above the final session ratings obtained.

Dividend-paying stocks were the best gainers.

Belated covering by short interests and an increased demand from commission houses carried the list substantially higher.

New York Air Brake, Pan-American Sugar preferred and Steel & Tube preferred improved two points.

National Cloak & Suit shares 1¼ higher and New York Central, Canadian Pacific, Norfolk & Western, Baldwin Locomotive, Pan American Petroleum, Chesapeake & Ohio, Central Leather, American Ice, and May Department issues 1 to 1½.

Foreign exchanges were generally lower. Demand sterling was off.

GREAT FALLS MFG.

To H. J. K., Dover—Statement that directors of Great Falls Manufacturing passed dividend at May meeting was hardly sufficient to tell the story. Directors probably took action on dividend at May session, but payments on capital stock were suspended around a year ago.

JONES BROS. TEA CO.

To O. N. C., Brighton—I think same too speculative for your purpose.

Current earnings of Jones Bros. Tea are estimated to be at the annual rate of $12 a share on common. This compares with $2.84 a share earned on common for the year 1922. This year's gross sales, including those of manufacturing and wholesale departments, are expected to be between $30,000,000 and $35,000,000. Sales in 1922 aggregated $24,250,000. By end of this year it is expected that the total number of stores will be materially in excess of 600. Additional mergers are under negotiation. Growth of company so far has been financed entirely out of earnings.

Due to increased earnings, unconfirmed talk is now heard of larger dividends. Last September directors declared a quarterly dividend of $1 a share on common stock. Company has vainly sought to buy J. T. Connor stores in Boston.

DELAWARE & HUDSON.

To W. E. E., Huntington avenue—For the first time this year, Delaware & Hudson, in April, turned in a really encouraging monthly statement. Net income was over $1,000,000 to $700,000. This compared with but $211,000 in March, and a combined deficit of $726,000 for the first three months of the year. By April report Delaware & Hudson was able to wipe out the deficit accumulated in the first quarter

LAUNCH NATION WIDE MOVE FOR ADEQUATE NAVY

By Universal Service.

Washington, June 22.—With the highest ranking officers of the navy and marine corps personally participating a nation-wide movement was started here to put squarely up to the administration and Congress the question of maintaining or surrendering to of naval equality provided under the five-power treaty.

R. E. Coontz.

The campaign was put under way with the adoption by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, District of Columbia encampment, of resolutions urging the navy department to submit to Congress the recommendations necessary to bring the United States up to the 5-5-3 plan and demanding that the Administration and Congress shall act favorably on the recommendations.

HIGH OFFICERS LEND AID.

The importance with which this movement is regarded is emphasized by the list of those who took an active part in launching it. Heading the list is Admiral R. E. Coontz, chief of naval operations and newly-chosen Commander-in-Chief of the United States' fleet. Major-General John A. Le Jeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, was another ranking officer who joined in the action.

OUTLINES NAVY'S PLIGHT.

Others participating were Major-General Wendell C. Neville, second in command of the Marine Corps, and Major-General Anton Stephan, commanding the District of Columbia National Guard. Adoption of the resolutions followed a stirring address on the navy's present plight by Capt. Frank H. Schofield of the Navy General Board.

All of these officers are members of the Party Ship Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Specifically, the resolutions urge the Navy Department to make "new recommendations for the authorization and appropriation of funds for the purpose of modernizing our older battleships, and such other recommendations as will bring our navy in personnel, tonnage, gunpower, material, general efficiency and in all other respects, up to the status assigned the United States by the treaty for the limitation of naval armament—namely, absolute parity with the navy of the British Empire and the ratio of five-thirds to the navy of Japan.

NEWS PROOFREADER DIES IN HOSPITAL

James P. Gorman of Dorchester, proofreader on the Boston Globe, died at a hospital following an operation. He was taken suddenly ill while at work about two weeks ago.

Mr. Gorman lived at his home at No. 53 Rosecliff street, and is survived by his wife, who was Mary L. Weeney of Dorchester; one daughter, Lillian, aged fourteen; one sister, Mrs. J. P. McCarthy of the Fenway, and one brother, Michael J. Gorman of Roxbury.

10 SURVIVORS WILL CONTINUE REUNIONS

Springfield, June 22.—Vigorously resenting the proposal that the fifty-eighth reunion held here be their last, the survivors of the Twenty Massachusetts Volunteers, all eighty or more years old, voted to continue their annual gatherings and elected Joshua L. Sherman of Charlestown, N. H., president, in spite of his protest.

Only fifteen members now remain of a regiment that mustered 1,400 in Civil War days and took part in many of the leading engagements of the last three years of the conflict.

GREY RUMORED AS CURZON SUCCESSOR

Universal Service Cable.

London, June 22.—The Daily Sketch predicts that Lord Curzon shortly will retire as minister for foreign affairs and that Lord Grey of Falloden probably will be his successor.

Amherst's Scandal

Let Us Free Ourselves From Privately Endowed Colleges—Let Us Free Higher Education

The Boston School Committee announces an estimated expenditure of nearly three and one-half million dollars for new schools.

We hope that this is enough adequately to meet the needs of our educational system. We are not doing as well for our public schools as we ought to do in America today. We are losing our great supremacy in public education. The draft statistics were shocking.

We once set an example to the world in public education. We, first of the nations, recognized that general public education is the foundation of democracy. But we have been so busy protecting ourselves from being robbed by the corporate creatures which our laws have permitted to grow up and to turn upon us, that we have not maintained our relative progress in education.

We underpay our school teachers. We underhouse our scholars. We neglect properly to scrutinize the character of our textbooks. We have not developed our higher education, but have left it to the haphazard, one-sided, privately endowed colleges, that draw their substance from men who have exploited the nation and whose profits and whose methods of acquiring those profits are the burning issues of the hour which the educated public must decide.

Consequently, we have too many teachers unfit for their task; too many teachers who, though fit, have become discouraged at lack of appreciation; textbooks that contain subtle propaganda to bias our international relations and our attitude on domestic questions; pupils improperly housed and young men and young women—particularly the young men—obtaining their higher education from college professors meek enough to eat out of the hands of gentlemen who made their money from special privileges, political corruption and the control and mismanagement of the great quasi-public corporations.

Consequently, last year we had a bold movement to remove a professor of Harvard Law School who had the temerity publicly to state that the constitutional guarantee of free speech and of a free press ought to be sacred and ought not to be denied, even if the right of free speech and a free press were exercised against "malefactors of great wealth," as Judge Anderson likes to call them.

It is true that the assault upon Professor Chaffee of Harvard apparently failed, but it is not at all certain that it did not accomplish its real, covert object of scaring more timid professors back into their traces, where they must walk, trot or canter, according to the conventional signals from gentlemen in Wall Street and their minions elsewhere.

It was only a little while ago that Columbia lost one of her most distinguished educators for the same reason. A few weeks ago at Clark University an eruption occurred on the same issue, and now Amherst is losing her president because he insists that the students shall hear both sides of the great controverted questions, and shall be free to make up their own minds and not have them made up for them as if they were primary children.

It is time that we turned our attention once more to public instruction and recognized that we need higher education as well as primary education, and that we cannot get it satisfactorily in the endowed colleges. It is time that we awoke to the necessity of public universities just as we have public elementary schools.

Let Wall Streeet then have its private colleges if it wants them, but let us establish in Massachusetts and all over the country great public universities such as they have in the West. Then we shall not be interested in such scandals as now shames Amherst.

Why Teeth Are Bad

Parents' Neglect Often Causes Children to Suffer Throughout Lives

Copyright 1922, Star Company

After the interest and excitement of a baby's first teeth have ended, parents too often forget that the baby has teeth or that the first teeth are important.

Out of every ten children you see, three or four have black, stubby teeth, worn down at the edges, and as hideous as those of the savage who eats the betel-nut, in the fond belief that black teeth are beautiful.

But a baby's first teeth ARE important, and the care of them is as necessary as if they were not going to be replaced in a few years with a permanent set.

A young child's fondness for candy—which is good for him in moderate quantities—results in the speedy destruction of his milk teeth, unless they are kept carefully clean and free from the soured and decaying sugar.

Left uncared for, the little teeth work loose and fall, or are broken out long before the new teeth come to replace them.

Then the food is improperly chewed, indigestion and stomach aches follow, and the health is permanently injured.

Often, too, neglect of the first teeth in allowing them to crowd each other or grow out of line, results in disfiguring of the second set and the life injury of the child's appearance.

Remember that the first and MOST IMPORTANT agent of digestion is the teeth. They must grind up the food so fine that the juices of the stomach can act on it easily, and they must at the same time mix it thoroughly with the saliva, without which good digestion is impossible.

The owner of a good horse knows how useful the animal's teeth are, and keeps them cared for from the beginning.

The dog naturally chooses a diet that keeps his teeth sound and white, as do the cat and all wild creatures.

The baby has lost all the instincts that guided his early ancestors, who lived in the tree-tops, and if allowed to have his own way will soon have a row of black, ugly little stumps that are not only unpleasant to look at, but very injurious to his health.

Take care of baby's first teeth if you want him to grow into a good, useful man, for upon digestion depends success.

WAR FUTILE WOMAN SAYS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 22.—"War is like the operation that is 'entirely successful,' but the patient dies," said Mrs. W. E. Henderson, of Columbus, chairman of the international relations committee, Ohio League of Women Voters. "No doctor willingly performs that kind of operation and no nation hereafter, in my opinion, will enter a war cheerfully, with what is called a fine morale.

"War is no longer an effective method of settling international controversies, because those controversies have to do with commercial and industrial problems, with securing new markets and getting oil and coal and iron, cotton and coffee, rubber and radium from unexploited regions," Mrs. Henderson asserted.

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

Is It Worth the Price?

Editor Boston American:

Many of your readers have voiced their objections to the bombardment that features our local fireworks displays. I have a kick and I think it is a good one. The morning after a recent "fireworks" display, I met a war veteran who had been wounded and shell-shocked in France. He was in a highly nervous condition. He told me that he happened to be near the display and that the racket nearly drove him frantic.

How many more of our war heroes are driven to the verge of nervous collapse by this senseless, ear-splitting bombardment? This man I speak of later told me that it took him fully two days to regain his normal composure. Is the entertainment worth the price?

Beacon Street Favored

Editor Boston American:

I would like to have someone explain to me why it is that partly filled three-car trains run out of Park street for Beacon street during the rush hours at night, while cars to other sections, two-car trains at that, are jammed to the doors.

Do residents of Beacon street rate more conveniences than the people of Brighton, Newton, etc.? Not only that but, to a casual observer, it seems as though there are about five cars to Beacon street to one or two to Newton and Brighton. People riding to the latter places often have to stand up the entire distance. And yet you will see cars going to Beacon street with hardly a person in the aisle, let alone having a jam. How about it?

WALTER B. JEPPINS.

THE HELPING HAND

Do Not Inclose Stamps. Letters Will Not Be Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls. No Names Are Published.

Big Family in Need

Editor Helping Hand:

Is there someone willing to help a big family? There are ten of us, eight girls and two boys, but the oldest boy is in the army. My mother has been very sick and had to undergo a serious operation, but she is home now. I had to stay home, as she can't do any work for some time, so if any one has any shoes or other clothing to fit girls from fourteen to thirteen months, or for a boy eleven, we would be very grateful. I can cut and fix over for the girls. We have so many mouths to feed, and such big doctor's bills to pay, that it takes all father earns. D. G.

Summer Dresses

Editor Helping Hand:

I have two Summer dresses that would fit a girl about thirteen or fourteen if you would send me the address of someone in need. MRS. A. K. S.

Thank you for this offer and what you have done in the past. You have been sent the address of Mrs. D. W. T., who has a girl twelve in need of clothes.

Needs Oil Stove

Editor Helping Hand:

Is there anyone who has an old oil stove with oven or a small gas stove? I would be very grateful for either one, and would do some work in return. M. M.

Baby Clothes for M. P.

Editor Helping Hand:

I will be glad to send M. P. some baby clothes. They are: three shirts, three petticoats, two dresses, two jackets, two bonnets, two pairs of stockings and two wrapping blankets. I also have on hand three white shirt-waists and a blue mohair bathing suit, all size 38. These I will send to anyone you suggest.

MRS. G. E. T.

Thank you indeed. M. P.'s address has been sent you, and the shirt-waists and bathing suit will be held for replies.

Would Care for Girl

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you kindly send me the address of Mrs. M. D. 2? I would like to help some one by taking care of a little girl (white) about three or four years old for a couple of months without charge. I will clothe such a little girl and give her the best of care. I intend going to the beach for the Summer. MRS. L. S.

Some little girl will be mighty glad to accept your offer of a vacation at the shore. Thank you. Mrs. M. D. 2's address has been sent you.

Thanks Givers

Editor Helping Hand:

I wish to acknowledge the receipt of parcels from D. L. C., Boston; Mrs. N. M. A., Dorchester; O. H., Upton; D. P., Springfield, and Mrs. N. B., Boston. We are all extremely grateful to these kind people. The articles are very nice, and every one will be used. The five dollars was used for food and medicine, and I thank the kind people who sent it again. C. H.

List for the Needy

Editor Helping Hand:

I would like to have some needy person call (Somerville) on a Tuesday, if possible, for the following list: Three pairs low shoes, two white and one brown, size 4 B; two pair high shoes, same size; one large dress to make over for a little girl; three Winter hats for a girl about fourteen; one workingman's cap, and two pairs of baby shoes about a year and a half. MRS. W. F. A.

Thank you. Your offer will be held for replies.

House of Sickness

Editor Helping Hand:

My husband has been laid up for four months, my little girl has the measles, and I am facing an operation myself. All I get is five dollars a week from the city to live on. I would deeply appreciate any clothes. My husband wears size 36; I wear 44 to 48. There are two girls, seven and six; boys, four and two, and baby, five months. MRS. D. C.

Mrs. C. H. F. Grateful

Editor Helping Hand:

I want to thank you for your ready help in answer to my appeal for my three children. I received a nice parcel from Mrs. C. of West Medford, and also from Mrs. G. of Brookline. My two eldest girls were supplied with a suit and dress each.

MRS. C. H. F.

Needs Wheel Chair

Editor Helping Hand:

Is there anyone could lend me an invalid's wheel chair for my wife? I have had her in four or five hospitals, and she has had radium and X-ray treatments, but nothing can be done for her. She has lain in bed almost eleven months, and she would like to get the air. I carry her on the veranda once a day. I have spent so much money for doctors and hospitals that I cannot afford to buy a chair. J. R. M.

A TRIP AROUND THE NEWS IN FIVE MINUTES

By Herbert Kaufman

HERE'S a magic carpet—a wizard fabric of spruce pulp covered with little black and white designs that symbolize sobs and hopes and dreams and conflicts and dare and do.

East and West, armies march through the amazing weave. Yon's the mask of tragedy, and there comedy grimaces.

Imagination sailing round the world looks down upon empires and oceans, observes intriguing diplomacy, follows the march of Manchurian soldiers heading back to Peking, catches the flash of assassins' daggers and detects scandal spying at universal keyholes.

Roofs become transparent. One downward glance falls upon a courtroom where a young mother stands accused of murdering her own brother by slow poisoning.

Behold forty men draw pistols and repel a raid upon bootleg stores. Then an arrest! Chicago's girl bandit and murderess is in the toils. Detectives search her face, prod her body and reveal a man for thirteen years accepted as a woman.

Now, a Bulgarian treasure hunt! Peasant-President Stamboulisky's secret hoard is disclosed, and that dim crash in the distance announces the fall of Zimmerman & Forshay, one more veteran bank; ruined by misguided faith in foreign moneys.

The last but not the final such smash. When State jurisdiction extends to private counting houses, like catastrophes will pass.

Men Come Bearing Gifts

A Princess of the line of Vanderbilt, whose proud estate dates from a line of ferryboats, takes a consort. Vassals of kings from old received no such tribute as the gifts lavished upon this golden twig of Dutch farmer stock.

Mercy, too, has her day. Fifteen hospitals receive $10,000 apiece from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for the purchase of insulin and the promotion of its use. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars in all to snatch poor diabetics from the grave.

So Croesus purges his billions of envy by philanthropy and benefaction. And the needle gate, through which greed shall never pass, swings a little wider.

The Bear Would Be a Hawk

Britons, beware! Moscow is again defiant. Trotzky flings threats into your teeth and answers further ultimatums with swarms of aeroplanes.

Those fast spreading factories along the Volga are filled with Prussian workmen, fled beyond the reach of allied authority to serve Russian opportunity.

Three thousand flying warships shall be delivered within a year; half to Moscow and half to Constantinople.

Prepare to defend your Mesopotamian riches and reaches, fortify Indian skies. Nightmares hover over Arabia. Strengthen the defences at Suez.

The bear would be a hawk. The Turk's head is in the clouds.

Mobs and Sobs and Wedding Bells

Mobs beleaguer Savannah and demand right of vengeance upon a black wretch whimpering, shrieking and praying by turns within a troop-surrounded jail.

Judge Lynch will not wait upon State justice: violence already exacts its reeking toll. Machine guns may stutter and sputter before another dawn.

And in Atlanta, Asa Candler, the alchemist who mixed printer's ink with water and savory herbs, poured it into a soda fountain and drew fortunes and skyscrapers from the tap, having spurned one daughter of New Orleans, now as Copheuta sought his maid, finds another Louisianian—a stenographer—fairest of the fair—woos, wins and weds her.

While November mates with May in America, May sails away to divorce November at Paris. French courts, accepting a plea of abandonment, cut the brief tie between white-haired Jonathan Godfrey and his girl-wife.

"She is young and I am old, but I believe she will return to me, because I love her so. Who can tell the way of a woman?"

Poor old maroon, alone in the desert of aching hearts!

One Round of the Clock

On to Sicily. Ever weeping for her dead cities, ever shuddering at tomorrow.

Vulcan's shop lies below foot, and Vulcan is at his elbows. Flames and fumes from the lame smith's eternal forges retch out of Etna, mighty chimney of the netherworlds, to obscure the pitying sun.

Sulphur and brimstone belch, fiery stones hurled as from Titan's catapults, strike at the very stars. Mountainside villages, one by one vanish beneath the downpouring ashes.

Time alone knows what forgotten civilizations hide their calcined bones, layer upon layer, along those glowing slopes.

Count the fresh rifts. Even granite cannot resist the molten stream erupting at will from crater and crevice, crawling, pouring in a resistless tide—mile-wide and fifty feet thick—sealing houses and barns and hamlets, farm and stock, church and people from human view until trumpets shall sound resurrection.

Thus perished Herculaneum and Pompeii.

At Lingnaglossa the people bend knee before St. Egidio, stretching supplicating hand from a spur of rock and invoke his holy power.

A miracle! The fire river pauses at his feet, splits and alters direction. Hallelujah! They are saved!

And at the very hour which marks maddest revel in Paris.

The four arts bail is held—students, painted and bedizened and garbed in the semblance of Pompeians, drunkenly reel through orgiastic dances and toast their naked wantons. Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die—in gutter, abed and on battlefield.

What a round of the clock.
